

Louis Pontone

EagleFest 2011 featured artist is Louis Pontone. Louis is a founding member of Artists For Art, the parent organization of the AFA Gallery. He was born and raised in Brooklyn, NY, lived in northeastern PA for many years and has now made Jeffersonville, NY his home. A painter for more than forty years, Louis taught at Keystone College, Misericordia, the Everhart Museum School and the Lucan Center for the Arts in Scranton. His work is represented in many public, private and corporate collections.

Louis has made the American landscape and the natural world among the principal subject matter of his paintings. The strict representation of the seen work was never his goal; interpretation and self-expression point the direction the work takes. Working over the whole surface, his technique involves altering and weaving the shapes, readjusting the colors and building up the textures. This pushing and pulling of the picture plane achieves a rich and highly developed work of art. Louis has named his fabulous landscape with an eagle perched near its nest, "Nesting".
